MAYNARD OPPOSED.

A Scene and a Sensation in the Democratic State Convention To-Day.

DELEGATE SCORES THE JUDGE

Weidman Has His Say Despite the Cries to "Throw Him Out."

MEYER AND DUFFY NAMED.

Cleveland Indorsed Silver Repeal Demanded and Old Principles Reaffirmed.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Judge of the Court of Appeals, Isaac H. Maynard, of Delaware. For Secretary of State, Cord Meyer, Jr., of Queens. For State Treasurer, Hugh Duffy, of Cortland. For State Comptroller, Frank Campbell, of Westchester. For Attorney General, Milton W. Rosendale, of Albany. For State Engineer and Surveyor, Martin Schenck, of Rensselaer.

CONVENTION HALL, SARATOGA.

N. Y., Oct. 6.—A remarkable scene was witnessed here this afternoon. District Attorney Ridgway, of Brooklyn, had just seconded Judge Maynard's nomination. He said it was true that Maynard may be opposed by a certain class who claim the right to dictate to the party, and whose sympathies are never with them on election day. Then in concluding he said: "Nominate Judge Maynard and pay him the debt you owe him."

Robert Weidman, of Rockland, arose to oppose the nomination. A scene and a sensation followed. The speaker was hissed and jeered. Nearly every sentence he spoke was punctuated with cries of derision and shouts of "Sit down!" and "Put him out!"

"Have you examined Maynard's record?" asked Weidman. "Pause, gentlemen, before you place him in nomination. He will be opposed by thousands of Democrats."

"Are you a delegate?" demanded a voice.

"I am," he replied.

"Are you a Democrat?" said another, and Weidman said with emphasis: "Yes, to the backbone. I was brought up as one, and have always been one. I am a better Democrat than those who are in the party only."

"Maynard's record is smirched, and he received his office as a political reward from Gov. Flower."

"He is charged with treachery and crime."

The Hill men insisted that Weidman be thrown out. The speaker said: "No, I will stay where I am till I am through."

Weidman, after asking whether the effect of the nomination on the young men of the party had been considered and receiving an affirmative answer, closed by demanding a ye-n and nay vote.

Chairman Lockwood, when the point was raised that Weidman was out of order because he was making a speech, decided against the Convention.

Weidman's speech acted as a challenge, and Maynard's friends came to his defense.

George M. Beebe, of Sullivan, got the delegates out of their savage mood by telling them that other great men had been reviled and slandered, and that the people stood by him.

He said Seymour, Hill and Tilden had been accused of all the crimes on the calendar.

Then Police Justice Thomas F. Grady, the silver-tongued orator of Tammany Hall, took up the defense of Maynard.

"I know Judge Maynard better than those who slander him," he shouted in tones of defiance.

Maynard's character, he said, was spotless. He made Judge Maynard out an angel whom his enemies called evil because of his faithful service to the Democratic party.

A delegate from Albany rekindled the old flame by asking that Weidman be ignored and Maynard nominated by acclamation.

Cries of "Yes, yes," from all parts of the hall.

A delegate took the platform to oppose Weidman's demand.

WORK OF THE CONVENTION.

The Only Hitch Was Over Maynard's Nomination—The Platform.

W. Bourke Cockran, ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant and Surrogate Frank T. Fitzgerald had been "turned down" by Tammany Hall for re-election as State Committee men.

Grant's name had been stricken from Mr. Cockran's list, but at the last minute it was restored through the intervention of Mayor Gilroy, who has been trying to make peace between the ex-Mayor and the Wigwam chief.

Mr. Cockran rules with an iron hand. A man that pledges allegiance to Tammany Hall is subject of the ruler, be he ever so high in public position.

Messrs. Grant and Cockran have been thinking for themselves. Mr. Cockran has had political opinions of his own. He expressed them, too.

Thinking independently, holding independent opinions, is a capital offense in Tammany Hall. So off went Cockran's head.

Congressman Cockran has been a delegate to every Democratic State Convention for over a decade. He was relied upon to furnish the bright gems of thought he knows so well how to express with eloquence.

His absence from this Convention was commented on on all sides. The explanation of his absence is furnished by Mr. Cockran's snickerness.

WHY WERE THEY TURNED DOWN? The Rich and the Famous. Cockran was jealous of the independent standing he was gaining in the city, State and nation, and used his great power in an attempt to crush him.

Tammany Hall furnished Bourke Cockran the opportunity to become rich and great. By withdrawing that opportunity and the support of the organization it is hoped to dim the light of the oratorical meteor and genius.

Another story is that Mr. Cockran is displeased because Congressman Cockran has made comments about Mr. Cockran's wealth and his manner of living. Surrogate Frank T. Fitzgerald is placed on the retired list nominally because he is holding a judicial position, but really because of his lack of interest in the organization.

Ever since Surrogate Fitzgerald relinquished his leadership there has been talk of turning him down, and none of his followers is willing to follow him.

Mr. Cockran retires from the Committee of his own motion to give his young protégé, Speaker Sulzer, a chance to come to the front.

Speaker Sulzer, Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan, County Clerk Purroy are the new members of the State Committee from New York.

Hugh McLaughlin gives way on the Committee to his lieutenant, Senator John McCarty.

Senator Edward Murphy is the only one of the bosses who retains his position, which means, of course, his re-election as Chairman of the Committee.

EVENING EDITION "Circulation Books Open to All." NEW YORK, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1893.

RAIN FOR THE YACHTS.

It Will Be a Disagreeable Day for To-Morrow's Race.

There Will Be Plenty of Wind from the Southward.

Both Yachts at Anchor at Bay Ridge This Morning.

There will be plenty of wind for to-morrow's race between the cup-defender Vigilant and Lord Dunsen's cutter Valkyrie—that is, of course, if Weather Forecaster Smith's prediction comes true.

But the other weather conditions will be just as important. It is now raining, and the forecast is for a heavy shower to-morrow, according to Prophet Smith, and those who go down to the sea in excursion boats to view the contest should provide themselves in advance with gum coats, blankets and some liquid heat for internal application.
